RE: PUEBLO NUEVO

Dear Ms. Pardee,

After further review of the proposed street pavement project in Pueblo Nuevo, I have concluded that there are eleven utility poles that need to be relocated. This is due to the fact that the county acquired additional right of way through donations at these proposed locations. The current utility poles follow the old right of way limits and must be relocated toward the new limits. The cost per pole is estimated to be about $3,000 dollars; however, we will get an exact estimate from the utility company, Medina Cooperative, at a later date.

Although utility posts need to be relocated there will be no additional property purchased or acquired. Attached please find additional information such as pictures and a plan view showing general surveying information. If you have any questions please contact my office at 956-523-4055.

Respectfully,
