Service Orders shall contain a Service Order Effective Date, as defined therein, which may be different than the Effective Date above, and which shall control as to the Services set forth in such Service Order. If the Customer has more than one (1) active Service Order, a termination of one (1) Service Order shall not automatically terminate this Agreement or any other active Service Order. This Agreement and any Service Order may be renewed for annual periods upon mutual agreement of the Parties.

7.02. Suspension of Access to Services; Termination.

7.02.01. Database Issues. In the event PropertyInfo suspects that the Services have been or are anticipated to be compromised ("Database Issue"), PropertyInfo may, without liability to any person or entity and with or without notice to Customer or Approved Users, temporarily suspend or cease to provide or restrict access to the Services until the Database Issue is resolved.

7.02.02. Suspension of Rights of Use. In the event Customer or an Approved User is in breach of Section 3.00, 4.00, or 7.00, or subsection 6.02 of this Agreement, PropertyInfo may immediately suspend Customer's and Approved Users' access to and utilization of the Services until Customer provides PropertyInfo with documented evidence, satisfactory to PropertyInfo, of Customer's compliance with such Section(s). Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Agreement, if Customer fails to provide such documentary evidence within thirty (30) days of PropertyInfo's notification to Customer of such suspended access, or fails to cure such breach, PropertyInfo may terminate this Agreement without further notice or cure opportunities.

7.02.03. Termination. In addition to Section 7.02.02, this Agreement may be terminated (i) upon mutual agreement by the Parties; (ii) by a Party upon written notice in the event the other Party is in breach of any obligation under this Agreement, subject to a thirty (30) day opportunity to cure; or (iii) by a Party in the event the other Party (a) files for bankruptcy, (b) makes a general assignment for the benefit of creditors; or (c) a general receiver or trustee is appointed over such Party, each subject to a thirty (30) day opportunity to cure. County shall endeavor to give reasonable notice to PropertyInfo should it appear appropriations are not forthcoming for any subsequent County budget year. This Agreement shall not terminate if funding is appropriated for any other agreement whereby the Customer receives the same or similar services from another party or the Customer uses funding itself to perform such services.

7.03. Conversion of Customer Data. All Customer Data collected and stored on a PropertyInfo Database shall remain the property of Customer, although PropertyInfo is granted a license to use such Customer Data for the sole purpose of performing its obligations under this Agreement. Upon the termination of this Agreement, PropertyInfo shall provide Customer or its agents with the necessary information to determine the index file record layout, the graphics file header layout, and such other information as may be needed to allow the Customer to continue use of the Customer Data outside of the Services or to convert the Customer Data to another vendor's system as long as Customer is current in its payment of fees owed for Services.

7.04. Survival. Sections 5.00, 6.00, 7.00, 8.00, 9.00, and 10.00 will survive the termination or expiration of this Agreement for any reason.

Confidential information shall include, but not be limited to, the term, conditions, and fees set forth in this Agreement. PropertyInfo shall not be required to keep confidential any concepts, techniques, or abilities ("Suggestions") relating to any aspect of the Services that are submitted to PropertyInfo by Customer or its Approved Users or are developed during the course of this Agreement by PropertyInfo, whether developed alone or in conjunction with Customer or its Approved Users. All such Suggestions shall be the exclusive property of PropertyInfo. The Parties recognize that the disclosure of confidential information would cause irreparable injury. For that reason, in the event of a breach of any of the covenants or representations hereof, the injured Party shall be entitled to injunctive relief in addition to any other remedy, including claims for damages and attorneys' fees that it might otherwise have. Notwithstanding the foregoing, each Party will handle nonpublic personal information about a consumer or customer of the other Party in compliance with the requirements of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (15 U.S.C. Sections 6801-6805) and the regulations promulgated thereunder. Unless otherwise provided herein, confidential information does not include any information to the extent it: (i) is or becomes a part of the public domain through no act or omission on the part of the receiving Party; (ii) is disclosed to the receiving Party by a third party having no known obligation of confidentiality with respect thereto; (iii) was known to the receiving Party prior to the date of disclosure, or (iv) is developed by the receiving Party without use of the confidential information, or (v) or subject to the applicable State freedom of information act, excluding trade secrets.
