The pilot study will demonstrate the suitability of the proposed technology for use by a public water system. The collected data should show product water in compliance with minimum drinking water standards and production capacity of the equipment under varying ambient conditions. A professional engineer will work under TCEQ standards to demonstrate that the systems will produce water that meets all drinking water standards in 30 TAC Chapter 290, Subchapter F. During the time of the TCEQ Pilot study, the water dispensers at the Community Centers will be marked as pending approval by TCEQ as a Public Water System. The purpose of the pilot is to not only seek TCEQ approval but also provide clean drinking water to the people of Webb County by planning for larger future installations throughout the Colonias. Upon approval from TCEQ Pilot Study, ZMW will work to identify funding from 3rd party resources for future larger installations throughout Webb County.
